

Montgomery County Fair Huge Success

The Montgomery County Fair, which came to a close in this city Saturday, was one of the most successful ever held by the association, despite the fact that it was greatly handicapped in being unable to offer a midway of any consequence owing to the railroad strike. In spite of this fact the attendance record for the last two days were recordbreakers, and the total gate receipts were very little short of last year. The races, both harness and running, proved extremely interesting and were hotly contested. Col. John R. McKee, of Cincinnati, acted as presiding judge over the various races and gave uniform satisfaction. The cattle and show rings drew much attention and were watched with much interest.

The floral hall, under the supervision of Miss George Sledd, was one of the best exhibitions ever seen here, and a complete list of awards in this department will be found elsewhere in this issue.

The Maysville Boys' Band, which furnished music, was undoubtedly the best musical talent that has ever visited this city on a similar occasion and was highly enjoyed by all attending the fair.

Taking everything into consideration, the exhibition was one of the best ever held in Mt. Sterling, and to the untiring efforts of President C. G. Thompson, Secretary N. A. Wilkerson, Managing Director D. N. Young and the entire board of directors too much credit cannot be given.

A complete review of the four days follows:

CHURCH IMPROVING WALK

St. Patrick's church is making a very decided improvement to its church property by removing the brick sidewalk and in its place concreting the front, 27 by 66 feet, and laying a stone pavement on the west side. This pavement conforms to other pavements on Sycamore street and gives two beautiful blue grass plots, one next to the church building and the other adjoining Sycamore street.

REWARD

Offered for information leading to recovery of 600-pound red heifer, white spot between horns, white feet and tail. Lost court day. Notify Byron W. Hall or this office. (pd)

CHARMING GUESTS

Mrs. Short, Mrs. Low and Mr. Brown, of New Albany, Ind., and A. F. Daugherty of Columbus, Ind., were the highly appreciated guests of the Bean brothers during the fair. It was their first trip to Mt. Sterling and they were delighted with the fair, saying that the races, the music and other attractions were the best they had ever seen. While it was their first trip to the famous Blue Grass region, it will not be their last, they declared. Mr. Daugherty, who is a wealthy capitalist of Indiana and owner of a large string of trotters and pacers, was so well pleased with the excellence of the track here that he is coming with his horses here next season to train them.

Dr. Powers Writes of General Grant

(By Dr. J. Pike Powers)

Editor of The Advocate: I read with interest various tributes paid to General Grant on the centenary of his birth last April and was reminded of incidents relating to him which occurred before and after the Civil war. I was a young fellow boarding with a fine man who operated a large tannery in Augusta, Ky., on the southern bank of the Ohio river and opposite the state of Ohio. My friends thought that exercise in the beam house and finishing rooms and the odor of tannic acid from the vats and the smell of freshly skinned hides would be beneficial to me, so I was induced to serve an apprenticeship. Mr. Jesse Grant, the father of Ulysses, who lived across the river in Clermont county, used to come to buy leather as one of the regular patrons of the tannery. I remember him as rather tall, raw-boned, dark complexioned and wearing an old-fashioned silk hat. When he first came he often referred with pride to "my son, the captain." His son had graduated from West Point and returned to his home. But it seems he was not a success in business, though his father gave him a good position. So he went west to California or Oregon as a civil engineer, and about the beginning of the war he returned eastward as far as Missouri, where he raised a company, and they elected him captain. His aspirations were higher than that and the governor of Missouri commissioned him colonel. He also won his southern wife, Miss Dent, in Missouri. Then his father, with great pride, spoke of him as "my son, the colonel." When the colonel was made general his father quit coming to Augusta and, I suppose, quit buying leather. The general commanded a brigade in Mississippi in the campaign against Fort Donaldson and was successful in reducing it; captured Vicksburg and soon thereafter was made general of the U. S. army by President Lincoln, and assumed command of the forces operating in front of General Robert E. Lee. Mr. Lincoln is said to have thanked God that he "had found a general at last." Grant held on with bulldog tenacity in his campaign against Richmond, resolved, as he said, to take it if it took all summer. After General Lee surrendered his shattered ranks and untarnished sword at Appomattox Court House, General Grant was the most prominent figure in the Republican party, and when the next national convention was held and nominations were in order, the Honorable Roscoe Conklin, of New York, with all the force and effect of his remarkable personality arose and said, "Mr. Chairman, if you ask whence comes our candidate, I answer, 'From Appomattox.'" Yes, Appomattox was the cause of his immediate popularity, and made him the president of the United States. I said above that his father did not return to buy leather, and one reason, I suppose, was because "my son, the president," appointed him postmaster at Covington, Ky. If my memory is correct, he had an uncle keeping a toll gate on the Maysville and Lexington turnpike in Mason county, Kentucky. This uncle was a Democrat. His friends got up a petition and forwarded it to Washington, asking the president to do something for his uncle, and he finally made him postmaster in the city of Maysville, the senate confirming the nomination, and no one, as far as I ever heard, accused the president of nepotism.

MT. STERLING COLORED FAIR

The Mt. Sterling Colored Fair will hold four days, beginning August 2. The catalogue, printed at this office, has been delivered to the president of the company, P. L. Hensley. This company gave a very interesting meeting in 1921 and this year all indications point to a better exhibit and faster trotting, pacing and running races. The carnival engaged will undoubtedly be here and to say it is good does not give the proper idea, for it is classed as one of the best on the road. The band is a distinct and attractive feature, is gifted in musical talent, is well trained and will furnish music, new and old. The colored people will not only make this their best fair in Mt. Sterling, but they are putting their best efforts forth to make it the best in Kentucky. Large crowds are expected.

FOR RENT—The brick residence on Maysville street formerly occupied by Judge A. N. Crooks. Possession given August 1.—M. C. Clay, agent for Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins. (81-2t)

BOY, 14, GETS GOLD TRIANGLE

Eugene Cowles, Jr., Shelbyville, was awarded the senior life saving medal and the Y. M. C. A. gold triangle for general efficiency and good sportsmanship at Camp Daniel Boone. The honor is the greater from the fact that it is rarely conferred on boys under 16, while the recipient in this case is only 14.

Eugene is a cousin of the editor of The Advocate, is of Virginia lineage, and is a very bright youth.

STRAY STEER—From my place on Howard's Mill pike about 2 weeks ago, a 950-pound red steer, with spot in forehead. Reward for information.—Col. Gatewood.

OPEN AIR SERVICE

The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will hold an all-day open air service on Thursday at Xalapa Farm. The meeting will be led by Mrs. Richard Montjoy, and Mrs. John A. Judy and Mrs. Will H. Strossman are the committee in charge of arrangements.

BUSY SESSION

County Judge E. W. Senff had a busy session in court yesterday, disposing of the following criminal cases: John Whitton, drunkenness, $50 and costs; Otha Lytle, drunkenness, $50 and costs; Ed Daugherty, drunkenness, $50 and costs; Ed Daugherty, transporting liquor, $200 and 30 days in jail. The automobile driven by Daugherty was also forfeited and he was required to give bond to keep the peace in the penal sum of $1,000. Charles Dickerson was fined $25 and costs for drunkenness, leniency being shown him because of his youth and the fact that it was his first offense.

Tanlac's reputation as one of the best medicines on earth was won by results, not claims. Try it.—Land & Priest.

FOR SALE AND EXCHANGE—On Logan avenue and 7th street, in Paris, Ky., a two-story brick residence with all the modern improvements. The residence is on a lot 80x200 feet; has 3 rooms, porches and halls. This is desirable property, well worth the money.—See H. C. McKee. (71-tf)

Mt. Sterling Playing Much Better Baseball

Although they have lost two out of their last three starts, the Mt. Sterling Essex are playing a much faster game. At Maysville last Thursday they secured the little end of the 2-to-1 score and succeeding in accumulating 11 hits to Maysville's four, but were unable to connect when hits meant runs. Harrison, a new pitcher, was in the box for the locals and let Maysville down with four hits, and with any kind of a break at all would have been returned the winner.

At Winchester Saturday the Essex were taken into camp by the Dodgers to the tune of 4 to 1. In this game Mt. Sterling used three pitchers, Leach, Townsend and Seitz, but were unable to overcome the Winchesterites.

In the game Sunday between Winchester and Mt. Sterling on the former's grounds, Mt. Sterling secured its first shutout of the season, winning to the count of 4 to 0. Harrison was again in the box for the locals and allowed the Dodgers but three hits. His work is just about the best seen in this league and he will add much strength to the local club.

Maysville will be the attraction at the Fair Grounds park Thursday afternoon and Harrison is again expected to take the mound for the Essex. This will be the first game played on the local lot in some time and an immense crowd is expected to be on hand. With all the clubs going as they are now it would only take a few wins to put Mt. Sterling up with the leaders.

CUT PRICE SALE

Special attention is called to the big cut price sale which begins at Newmeyer's store on Saturday. Everything in this immense stock has been materially reduced in price and people are not going to fail to take advantage of the wonderful bargains being offered. It isn't often that one has the opportunity to buy summer goods so early in the season at these prices, and the thrifty buyer will be amply rewarded by attending this sale. The housekeeper, ever on the alert for real bargains, should watch these columns, for household linens, carpets and other necessities will also be offered at greatly reduced cost to the buyer. Replenish your stock of supplies as well as your clothing needs while these wonderfully low prices prevail. "I want all my friends and customers to reap full benefit of this harvest of bargains," said Mr. Newmeyer, "and don't forget the sale starts Saturday."
